Quality is job 1 was an old Ford slogan. It should be the priority of Defense munitions contractors around America. It remains one of PM AMMO's major strategic objectives for FY 2009 to work with contractors to improve the quality of the ammunition we are putting in the Marine Corps stockpile. Quality is a key metric for the ammunition as the Marine Corps is at a historically high level of funding for ammunition over the next few years. The ammunition we procure today will need to serve the Marine Corps over the next fifty years. PM AMMO looks forward to working with contractors over the next few years to look at ways to improve the quality of all ammunition manufactured in support of the Warfighter.
