Marine Corps Launches Infantry Combat Boot Survey

QUANTICO, Va. – Marine Corps System Command's Program Manager for Infantry Combat Equipment (PM ICE) has kicked off an Internet survey soliciting input from Marines on the current Infantry Combat Boot, both the hot and temperate weather styles. All active and reserve Marines are invited to participate in the comprehensive survey. This survey includes such topics as design, fit, comfort, durability and performance. Concluding at a date to be determined, the survey results will help PM ICE improve the Infantry Combat Boot. Surveys such as this continue to reflect the command's constant support for our dedicated Marines.
